Congress Belts Benson Report

New Farm Program Script Gets
Hostile Reaction, Said 'False'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (P)—The Eisenhower administration's new farm program got off to a stormy start in Congress today when Secretary of Agriculture Benson went before a Senate committee to back it up.

Soviet Leader Pays A Secret Visit To Poland

LONDON, Jan. 17 (P)—Moscow radio announced tonight that Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev has been on a secret visit to Poland.

The announcement said he spent three days there and had conversations with leaders of the Polish Communist party and the government of the Polish People's Republic.

The talks took place in a cordial and friendly atmosphere, the 67-word announcement said. It disclosed that Khrushchev had been vacationing in the area of the Soviet-Polish border when he received an invitation from Wladyslaw Gomulka, the Polish Communist leader, to come into Poland.

Khrushchev had been missing from the usual round of Moscow diplomatic receptions for more than a week. Soviet authorities announced Tuesday he was out of town on a vacation but did not say where.

The Soviet Union's relations with Poland have been somewhat strained since the October 1956 demonstrations against Kremlin domination. After that, Poland's leadership was reorganized and the country's Communist leadership took on a nationalistic character.

The Moscow announcement referred to Khrushchev's Polish talks in the past tense but did not indicate where he is now.

Dog Heroine Is Designated

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17 (P)—A spaniel-shepherd named Betty has been designated by the Medical Research Assn. of California as the national dog heroine of 1957.

Betty was used in research to develop a treatment for water on the brain. Physicians said it will save the lives of many children.

The procedure consists of implanting in the brain cavity a tiny plastic tube connected to a blood vessel in the neck. Excess fluid accumulating in the cavity is drained continually into the blood vessel.

The ailment is a disease of infancy. Victims heretofore have had a life expectancy of a few months or years, association spokesmen said.

The honor for Betty was announced at the association's annual dinner. The dog, owned by Maggie and Gordie Skillen of South Pasadena, has a new collar in honor of her participation in the research.

Mountain Mesa Town Is Cold Weather U.S.A.

FRASER, Colo., Jan. 17 (P)—This little community on a mountain mesa is Cold Weather, U. S. A.

On almost any given day in the winter Fraser has colder weather than anywhere in the United States. That's counting only places, of course, that have weather observers who report official temperatures to federal weather stations.

Fraser has about 300 residents, none of whom seems to worry that their town is usually the coldest. When the mercury dives far below zero, they toss another log in the fire and catch up on their reading. There's plenty of snow for skiing and bobsledding close to town.

Fraser is on the Moffat Tunnel line of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad and about 70 miles northwest of Denver. Logging and cattle are the chief industries.

Folk here think that Ronald Tucker, 50-year-old logger, and his wife Edna, 42, have the toughest jobs in town, especially in the winter.

Every 2 hours, 7 days a week, 52 weeks a year, Tucker or his wife take weather readings and telephone these to the weather station at Denver's Stapleton Airfield.

"Reporting how cold it gets is incidental," Mrs. Tucker said. "The Fraser station was set up for one reason—to report on weather for airplanes."

"Fraser lies right on a main airway and the pilots have to know what the weather is like along the Continental Divide before they make flight plans. It's our job to let them know."

Fraser is on a tableland about 9,000 feet above sea level. High peaks surround the town on three sides.

The bespectacled, dignified Benson ran into a barrage of hostile comments by Chairman Ellender (D-La.) and other critics on the Senate Agriculture Committee.

"Inaccurate," was the way Ellender described some statements in Benson's 24-page script.

"The Federal Trade Commission would rule it out as false advertising," said Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) of one portion.

"There is nothing false about it," Benson retorted.

Benson sought to mollify farm state critics at one point by saying he might never cut price supports all the way down to 60 per cent of parity even if Congress granted his request for authority to do that low.

Controversial Item
"Maybe we'll not need to go that low," Benson said.

The administration's request for authority to set price supports on basic crops and dairy products between 60 and 90 per cent of parity is one of the most controversial items in the 14-point farm program submitted by President Eisenhower. The present minimum is 75 per cent of parity.

Parity is a standard for computing farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

In his prepared statement, Benson said the legislation sought should have been provided at the end of the war. He said farmers would be better off today if it had been. He described the present 75-90 per cent rate as "too narrow to permit the expansion of markets needed to absorb the increased production which our farms will likely produce."

"The shortcomings of our past programs are quite clear," Benson said. "We have tried to legislate prices artificially, without full consideration for the inevitable forces of supply and demand."

Tried To Control
"We have tried to control production artificially, without full consideration for the efficiency and ingenuity of farmers."

All this has failed, he said. In addition to lower price support authority, the administration program calls for an easing of production controls.

Benson told the Senate committee that 25 years of experience have "proved you can't control prices by controlling production of crops." He said those under controls were in the worst shape.

"I don't want to go down toward the socialization of agriculture," he said.

At one point Benson appeared to be appealing to the farmers themselves. He said, "In the final analysis, farmers will have to make up their minds which way they want to go."

Ellender, who doesn't give the administration program "a ghost of a chance," ruled that committee members could interrupt any time Benson made a statement which they considered to be "not the facts."

Under this procedure, it took Benson most of the 2½-hour morning session to get through the first four pages of his 24-page statement.

Heart Change Foils Holdup

Four youths listen as District Attorney Frank O'Connor, left, reads report of case in which New York police said a big bank robbery planned for yesterday by 10 high school boys was foiled when two of the group had a change of heart. Shown here are (seated) Joseph Wagner, left, and George Zack, both 17, and (standing) Bryant Colgan, 17, left, and George Liggett, 21. They face charges of assault against two who rebelled and tipped off the plot. Three other youths are being sought by police while another, 15, also is being held.

Father Wants To Aid Rescuer Of His Son

CHICAGO, Jan. 17 (P)—A father, whose soldier son was saved from a battle death in the Burma jungle 14 years ago, said today he wants to help the war hero rescuer—now jailed in California.

The man he seeks to help is Melvin Russell Blair, who retired from the Army as a lieutenant colonel, and facing trial on a charge of attempting to steal the $40,000 receipts of the Bing Crosby golf tournament at gunpoint.

Blair holds two Distinguished Crosses and the Silver Star.

The story goes back to June 12, 1944, when a Japanese sniper fired on a patrol of the 209th Combat Engineers near the Ledo road. Pvt. Paul D. Rogers, his left eye pierced by a bullet, was left for dead on the trail.

Blair, then a lieutenant and Rogers' commanding officer, had a hunch after hearing descriptions of the wound that Rogers was not dead.

He returned to the ambush scene, and under covering fire of his men, crawled 250 yards to Rogers, by then conscious. He helped Rogers to safety.

Recently, Edward Rogers of suburban Evanston, father of the soldier, saw a newspaper picture of Blair—jailed at Pebble Beach, Calif., on the theft charge.

The elder Rogers said today he wants to pay the costs of Blair's defense, and he has asked his son to appear at the trial as a character witness.

Paul Rogers, now a 35-year-old design draftsman for Minneapolis-Honeywell Corp. at Minneapolis, said he'll do whatever he can for Blair, to the extent his job permits.

"I've talked to Sheriff Victor Tibbs at Salinas," said the elder Rogers, who is sales manager for the well equipment division of Clayton Mark & Co.

"The sheriff said that he feels Blair's court-appointed counsel is doing the best job possible for him. I don't want to interfere; but I do want to help this man to whom I owe so much."

Dupre's The Name!

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Jan. 17 (P)—Perhaps nobody anywhere ever had a firmer right to the name "Dupre" than Mrs. Adela Dupre, who died here today.

The former Helen Dupre was born in St. Simon, Quebec, 87 years ago to Andre Dupre and Sophie Dupre whose names before she married Andrew was also Dupre. And when daughter Helen Dupre in turn married, she was wed to Adela Dupre.

Top Bidder Steals Tractor

NEW HAMPTON, Iowa, Jan. 17 (P)—After calling out the top bidder of $800 for a tractor at a farm auction near here, the bidder stepped forth from the crowd and asked to "try it out." He never returned.

Sheriff Galen Folkers said the tractor later was found on the farm of Mervin Hall, 39, who was being held today for questioning.

Navy Polaris Test Vehicle Launched

CAPE CANAVERAL, Jan. 17 (P)—A Navy Polaris test vehicle—a ballistic stand-in for the Navy's 1,500-mile range submarine-launched missile of the near future—streaked away from a launching pad here almost faster than the eye could follow today.

The vehicle was too fast and too small—seen from a distance of three or four miles—for its identity to be recognized from beaches outside the fenced-off test center.

Launched vertically less than an hour after sunrise, it moved away beautifully, leaving a graceful white trail across the blue sky toward the southeast—almost the only evidence of its existence.

It went in such a hurry that of half a dozen photographers and cameramen maintaining watches on the beach, none was believed to have obtained a picture.

Although there have been a number of similar launchings of comparatively small, extremely fast missiles from this center, this was the first time the object was identified officially as associated with the Polaris.

Less than 10 minutes after the launching the missile test center announced that, "A test vehicle in the Navy Polaris program was fired at 7:59 a.m. today."

Huge Aerial Tracks Missile

PATRICK AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. Jan. 17 (P)—The Air Force today announced construction of what it believes to be the world's biggest radio antenna.

The new device, taller than a seven-story building, will make for better tracking of intercontinental ballistic missiles launched from the Cape Canaveral missile test center near here, the Air Force announcement said.

It added that the equipment also will be of value in earth satellite experimentation during the International Geophysical Year now in progress.

The United States plans to put a series of small satellites into orbits around the earth during the IGY.

The first of the five units that have been ordered has been built at Melbourne, 16 miles south of this air base.

The other units will be put up at Cape Canaveral, 17 miles north of here; and a three stations along the 5,000-mile missile test range—at Antigua in the British West Indies; Fernando de Noronha Island off the east coast of Brazil; and Ascension Island in the south Atlantic.

Foot Says Cyprus Solution Near

LONDON, Jan. 17 (P)—Sir Hugh Foot expressed the belief today that a just settlement will be found to the Cyprus problem. He then boarded a plane to return to his duties as governor of the east Mediterranean island.

"Given time and peace and goodwill I am confident that we will find the fair settlement we need," he told reporters.

The Lockheed Polaris, armed with a nuclear warhead, is designed for launching either from ships or from submarines above or below the water.

The Navy says the missile thus will provide atomic striking capability, from fast-moving, constantly submerged, long-range, atomic-powered submarines against vital enemy targets.

The Polaris also will be more accurate than the longer-range intercontinental ballistic missiles, the Navy says.

The target or assigned range of the missile fired today was not indicated. However, in Washington, William Holaday, Defense Department director of missiles, said the firing was considered a success.

"All I really know now is that they have called it a success," Holaday told reporters.

Holaday added that the device tested includes "a forerunner of the Polaris propulsion engine."

The Polaris is being manufactured by Lockheed Aircraft Corp. at Sunnyvale and Palo Alto, Calif. The missile as fully developed, probably by the early part of 1960, is likely to be 40 to 50 feet tall and 100 inches in diameter, and may be capable of carrying an atomic warhead of up to 1,000 pounds.

She'll Be Wary Of Refrigerator From Now On

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 17 (P)—Mrs. Doris Ogg was wary of her refrigerator today.

She put her hand in an automatic ice cube department.

Some mechanism jammed and she couldn't get her hand free. Her husband worked valiantly to help her, then called police.

Two officers required 30 minutes to free Mrs. Ogg. Then they took her to a hospital where she was treated for frostbitten fingers.

Workers Laid Off By Business Decline

HERRIN, Ill., Jan. 17 (P)—The Borg-Warner Norge Division washer plant here has laid off 100 workers, and a spokesman blamed the national "general business decline and uncertain market conditions."

Lysle Ardis, vice president and general manager of the Herrin plant, said more than 1,000 workers still were employed here. He said even with the layoff, the plant still was 200 workers ahead of its total working force during the last few months of 1956.

Countess Dies

DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 17 (P)—Word was received here that a Des Moines-born countess, Beulah Hubbell Wachtmeister, 83, last surviving member of a family called the richest in Iowa history, died yesterday in Paris, France.

She was the widow of Count Axel Carl Wachtmeister, a Swedish nobleman who died in Paris in 1933.

Initial Move To Hike Debt Limit Made

House Group OK's
Bill, 20-3, For
$5 Billion Increase

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (P)—With the government scraping the bottom of its cash box, Congress moved swiftly today in initial action to raise the national debt limit from 275 to 280 billion dollars.

Less than four hours after Secretary of the Treasury Anderson reported the government's cash balances running "distressingly low," the House Ways and Means Committee approved a bill increasing the debt ceiling by five billion dollars until June 30, 1959.

The measure was sent to the House by a 20-3 committee vote, with two Republicans and one Democrat voting no. The dissenters were reported to be Reps. Harrison (D-Va.), Byrnes (R-Wis.) and Mason (R-Ill.).

Move Shouted Down

Before the final vote, a move to hold the increase to three billion dollars was shouted down. This proposal to hold the ceiling at 278 billion dollars was sponsored by Byrnes.

The bill is scheduled for a House vote next Tuesday. If passed it will then go to the Senate, where Chairman Byrd (D-Va.) of the Senate Finance Committee has scheduled a hearing for Jan. 27.

Treasury officials said the measure would give them needed flexibility in meeting the government's financial requirements. They said the added borrowing power was necessary primarily to provide cash for the government's day-to-day bills during periods of slack tax receipts, and to allow for more economical refinancing of maturing obligations.

No Break Through

Anderson told his committee he did not expect the debt to break through the 275-billion-dollar level before the end of this fiscal year, Jan. 30.

But he anticipated that it might rise to 278 billion dollars next fall when the flow of tax revenues drops off seasonally.

This is not the first time the government has requested an increase in its borrowing authority. In 1955-56 the debt limit was upped temporarily to 281 billion, and in 1956-57 to 278 billion.

The debt limitation reached its highest point during World War II at 300 billion dollars. In June 1946 it was reduced to its present figure of 275 billion dollars.

Lioness Shot In Zoo Fire

MANCHESTER, England, Jan. 17 (P)—A keeper put a rifle bullet through the brain of his favorite lioness today as fire swept through the Belle Vue zoological garden and pleasure park.

Attendants armed with rifles were called but when flames swept through two restaurants and two ballrooms and closed in on the animal den, housing lions, tigers and leopards.

Firemen feared the frenzied beasts might escape if cages were broken. Zoo Superintendent William Wilson Adly decided he would have to kill the most excited of the animals, 17-year-old lioness Judy, long a favorite of zoo visitors.

One shot from his rifle brought Judy down. Wilson and a zoo security officer, Richard Morris, stood ready with rifles, in case.

"The firemen brought down a curtain of water in front and around the animal house, and fortunately were able to reduce the intense heat that was singeing the cats' fur," said Wilson.

"Morris and I wouldn't have been able to stay near the cages very much longer, and had we been driven out we would have had to shoot the lot."

Hopes Are Raised For Weather Plane

GUAM, Jan. 18 Saturday (P)—Reports of flares and faint radio signals raised hopes today for 10 airmen whose B-50 weather reconnaissance plane disappeared in a typhoon 600 miles north of Guam four days ago.

The U.S. ammunition ship Fire-drake reported sighting flares at 1:58 a.m. today in the search area. Maj. Pete Scoglund of the 79th Air Rescue Squadron said two red flares and one white were observed in the same general area at 2:35 a.m.

Irate Motorist Socks Conductor For Train Delay

MASON CITY, Iowa, Jan. 17 (P)—An irate motorist, who apparently thought 10 minutes much too long to be held up by a train at a crossing here last night, climbed aboard and punched the conductor.

After waiting about 10 minutes at the 15th street crossing, the unidentified motorist drove to the 19th street crossing, parked his car and climbed aboard the train. He argued with the Minneapolis and St. Louis train conductor, R. E. Perry of Marshalltown, then knocked Perry down, bruising his face, police said.

The motorist then got back in his car and drove away with the train still blocking the crossing.

Arctic Missile Detection Units Are Planned

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (P)—The Air Force will begin construction, probably within a few months, of three ballistic missile detection stations in the arctic. Using ultra-range radar, the stations could spot Russian missiles within minutes after their launching in Eurasia.

Negotiations with at least two companies for the 189 million dollar building job—which does not include cost of the equipment—are understood to be under way in anticipation of swift congressional approval of an appropriation request.

Testimony before the House Armed Services Committee was released today by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.). In it, Vinson said that the purpose of a 189 million dollar item was to construct three detection centers at locations outside the continental United States.

Douglas identified the centers as ballistic missile detection stations.

Additional testimony said these stations had nothing to do with defense system in Europe. Initially, Vinson had said the powerful radar systems would be able to spot Soviet missiles as they left the ground, but later testimony showed he meant that the missiles would come into the radar scanning system as they climbed above the horizon.

Behind the cryptic references in the testimony, there seemed to be these points:

The three detection centers will be spotted about 1,000 miles apart in the general area of the present Distant Early Warning Line—DEW—system for aircraft detection. The 3,000-mile range of the new radar equipment will provide ample overlap to create an unbroken fence along the continent's rim.

The DEW system consists of more than 100 main and secondary stations. However, the range of this equipment is only between 100 and 200 miles.

Ohio Turnpike Usage Increases

CLEVELAND, Jan. 17 (P)—The Ohio Turnpike's year-end report showed today that the 240-mile toll road carried 1,283,331 more cars and trucks in 1957 than in 1956 and had gross income of $20,629,996, or about five million dollars more than in the previous year.

Left for debt service from 1957 revenue was $5,532,425, against $4,111,947 in 1956.

For December, a slow month for turnpike business, 780,673 vehicles used the turnpike against 706,707 a year earlier, and revenue after expenses was $1,543,903 compared with $1,156,112 in December, 1956.

Body Is Found

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (P)—The body of Miss Jean D. Long, about 70, a retired government employee, was found today at the foot of her bed after a fire in her bedroom.

Public Printer For U.S. Has No Business Cards

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17 (P)—Ray Blattenberger runs just about the biggest print shop in the country. His presses run off 133 million pounds of printed matter annually.

But if you meet him, don't bother to ask for his business card. He doesn't have any.

Blattenberger is the United States public printer. His output includes farm bulletins, legislative bills, income tax forms and practically everything else that's printable—except money. And business cards for Mr. Blattenberger.

The reporter who asked for his card at a news conference yesterday got this explanation: "It's against my policy to spend money foolishly; I promised to carry out the President's platform of economy when I took this job."

Nation Said Not Inferior To Russians

Gen. Twining Says
Military Forces
Can Win Any War

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (P)—A top military planner and an aircraft pioneer today applied bright colors to the dark defense picture presented to Senate probes in recent weeks.

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told the senators "we are not today, in my judgment, in a position of inferior strength vis-a-vis the Soviet Union."

In testimony given to the Senate Preparedness subcommittee Tuesday and released in censored form today, Twining asserted:

"Our military forces are strong enough now to win if war is thrust upon us—and we can take care of the future if we put our energies to the task."

His view was supported by Donald W. Douglas Sr., chairman of the board of Douglas Aircraft, who testified today the armed services and industry "have been doing a much better job of keeping pace with any potential enemy than the public realizes."

Douglas said emphatically he doesn't share "the gloomy opinion of so many that the race for weapon supremacy has been lost forever and that we are permanently doomed to the role of a secondary power."

Working On Engine
To this was added a report from J. E. Kindelberger of North American Aviation, Inc., that his company is working on a much larger rocket engine suitable for manned satellite stations and moon landings.

Kindelberger told the investigators scientists could send an object to the moon "with the power we've already got." But he said it will require a thrust of up to five million pounds to send up a manned space platform.

Secretary of the Air Force Douglas, it was disclosed, has told the House Armed Services Committee that the Defense Department has enough funds to make a satisfactory start on development of an antimissile missile, the No. 1 defensive weapon of the space age.

"If you ask me whether the Defense Department will be back in the next couple of years for substantial money with respect to ballistic missile defense, I certainly answer in the affirmative," he said in testimony given Saturday and released today.

None of these witnesses, however, expressed complete satisfaction with the defense picture or with the way the United States (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Patrice Munsel Auto Robbed

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (P)—Soprano Patrice Munsel scored an artistic triumph on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House Thursday night but suffered a heavy financial setback less than a block away.

Police report that burglars broke into her station wagon parked near the opera house and stole more than $4,000 in jewelry, furs and clothing.

The theft occurred as Miss Munsel sang the role of ill-fated Mimi in Puccini's "La Boheme" for the first time at the Metropolitan.

Thomas Bennett, a chauffeur for Miss Munsel, and her husband, television producer Robert Schuler, discovered the theft.

Yugoslavia Pushes Efforts For Conference

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Yugoslavia accelerated its campaign today for an early summit conference of big and little powers to halt the world's cold war.

Ambassador M. I. Veyvoda said in a speech here that the summit meeting should be set months in advance. In the interval the big powers would prepare a work program on cold war problems.

In Belgrade, President Tito greeted President Sukarno of Indonesia on his arrival for a two-day visit, hoping to enlist his support for the summit meeting plan.

Tito advanced New Year's Day.

Veyvoda spoke at a Foreign Press Assn. luncheon attended by British Foreign Office experts and diplomats of several Western governments. Communist Yugoslavia professes neutrality in the cold war.

Veyvoda said small and neutral states should attend such a conference in order to bring fresh air and fresh approaches into the East-West exchanges.

The Soviet Union has called for a top-level conference within three months that would include anyone from 3 to 29 nations. The West insists new summit talks must be carefully prepared through diplomatic channels and a conference of foreign ministers.

"The world now faces two deadlocks—one in respect of the political situation including disarmament and the other in respect of a procedure for new negotiations," Veyvoda said. "We are realists and think a new summit conference is needed."

"We do not expect great achievements or solutions to emerge. But such a meeting would start off a long series of discussions at many levels to tackle all the elements of the international situation."

"The possibility of failure can not—as some maintain—make the situation worse than it is today when no negotiations are taking place and when the arms race actually is increasing in pace."

This appeared to be a reference to Secretary of State Dulles' speech in Washington Thursday. Dulles said it would be a disaster if Western leaders were forced to break off a summit conference in an atmosphere of hostility because that would intensify the cold war.

In the Belgrade talks, Tito is expected to try to bring Sukarno around to the Yugoslav policy of independence between East and West. This is in line with Tito's plan for a summit meeting.

The Communist newspaper borba said of the meeting between Tito and Sukarno that the talks will be aimed at "pacifying the international situation, with active participation of countries which do not belong to any of the existing blocs."

GOP Hopeful Of Pa. Victory

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 17 (AP)—A veteran Democratic party leader is confident of victory and a Republican borough official hopeful of scoring an upset next Tuesday in a special congressional election.

The winner in the 21st District, which is heavily Democratic, will serve the remainder of this year. The election is to fill a vacancy created last Nov. 20 by the death of Rep. Augustine Kelley, a Democrat who had easily won nine consecutive terms.

State Sen. John Dent, 49, is the Democratic candidate. He's opposed on the Republican ticket by Herbert O. Morrison, a 52-year-old Pittsburgh radio newscaster who is a borough councilman at Scottsdale.

"I am very hopeful of winning," Morrison said. "This is not an election whether the voters care if a man is a Democrat or Republican—it's just a choice between two men."

Morrison twice sought to unseat Kelley, losing by 25,435 votes in 1954 and 18,938 in 1956. Registration in this coal and industrial district some 30 miles east of Pittsburgh totals 105,759 Democrats and 54,941 Republicans.

Dent, a prosperous businessman, has been in Democratic politics almost from the time he was 21. He served four years as a councilman at his home town of Jeannette, was elected to the State Assembly as a representative and then moved into the State Senate where he is in his 6th 4-year term and has served 17 years as his party's floor leader.

Whetzel Dies In Gas Chamber

PARCHMAN, Miss., Jan. 17 (AP)—Hard-eyed William A. Wetzel died in the gas chamber at 12:33 a.m. today with a psalm on his lips. Ten hours later his mother and sister showed up thinking the execution had been set for 2 p.m.

"I don't know why Mr. Harpole—Prison Supt. Bill Harpole—didn't tell us last night," sobbed Mrs. Ida Wetzel of Seneca Falls, N.Y., mother of the 33-year old badman doomed for a prison slaying.

Chaplain R. B. Hicks explained the hour was set by Sheriff E. W. Williams too late for them to arrive in time from Vickburg, Miss., where they were staying.

Burglars Take Sleep, Headache Pills From Store

DES MOINES, Jan. 17 (AP)—Burglars broke into a drug store early today and took among other things 1,000 sleeping capsules and some headache compound.

They apparently thought they were needed. To gain entrance, police said, the burglars went through a manhole in the sidewalk, slid down a coal chute into an adjoining building, forced open a door between the two buildings and cut away a heavy mesh wire screen to get into the drug store.

M'Keldin Tours, Cites Patuxent Institution

JESSUP, Md., Jan. 17 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin today inspected Maryland's Patuxent Institution and termed it a "magnificent experiment" in the treatment of criminals.

He toured the 3-year-old penal institution, the only one of its kind in the nation, with Enos S. Stockbridge, director of the Department of Correction, and Claude B. Helfmann, secretary of state.

Patuxent, which presently houses 270 defective delinquents committed by the courts, uniquely combines the features of a mental hospital with those of a modern prison.

It is headed by a psychiatrist, Dr. Harold Boslow, who told the governor that three years of operation have convinced him "the idea of the institution is a valid, but difficult, one."

Patuxent is attempting to rehabilitate young prisoners of strong anti-social tendencies who might commit violent or repeated crimes if not diverted of those tendencies. All of the "patients," as Boslow referred to them, are in Patuxent for indeterminate terms. They will not be released until regarded as safe risks in society again.

Dr. Boslow said six prisoners have been rehabilitated and released so far, and three of these have come back for further treatment.

He indicated the institution is still struggling through a formative stage. Activities have been housed in one large building so far, but plans have been recently completed for a diagnostic center to be built there. There also are plans for two more wings to go on the present main building.

Dr. Boslow said the major problem at present is filling vacancies for five psychiatrists, two more psychologists and two more social workers. At present, two fulltime psychiatrists, one parttime psychiatrist and two psychologists head up the therapeutic rehabilitation program.

Much of their time is spent performing diagnostic and evaluating work for the courts, which decide whether to commit a patient to Patuxent for an indefinite period or send him to a reformatory or prison.

"Our two psychologists are in court today," he explained to the governor. Stockbridge said that he thought salary increases recently approved by the standard salary board will make it easier for the institution to find more trained help if the General Assembly approves.

Mollohan Files For Congress Seat

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 17 (AP)—Former Rep. Robert H. Mollohan of Fairmont, who ran unsuccessfully for governor in 1956, filed as a candidate for Congress in the 1st District today.

Mollohan's certificate as a candidate in the Democratic primary next Aug. 5 was not accepted immediately for filing by the secretary of state's office because of a minor error.

Nation Said

is moving to meet Russia's space age challenge.

Twining acknowledged that the Air Force budget now before Congress "has actually been pared below what I considered minimum essential a few months ago."

"I have said before there is an element of risk in every defense budget," he added. I will speak more plainly. The Air Force budget as presented to you today has already been reduced to a point which lies in what I consider to be a dangerous area."

Douglas told the senators "more guts and less gobbledygook" is needed to develop antimissile missiles.

He said "all we need now is the go-ahead signal" to bring antimissile missiles to the same status as the intermediate range ballistic missile.

The United States has two IRBMs, the Army's Jupiter and the Air Force Thor, in operational production; and a test vehicle of the Navy's Polaris was fired successfully today at Cape Canaveral, Fla. These weapons have a range of about 1,500 miles.

Decisions Are Obstacles
Testifying before the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, Douglas said, "I do not need to dwell upon the importance" of the antimissile missile "which might well be the difference between survival or disaster for this nation."

One of the most formidable obstacles to getting the things done swiftly and efficiently, Douglas said, is the "time-consuming, agonizing process" of waiting for official decisions.

Young Negroes Admit Slaying Store Operator

SNOW HILL, Md., Jan. 17 (AP)—The young Shockley brothers, charged with a slaying which might arouse racial tension, were in jail somewhere today but the location was a closely guarded secret.

The Shockleys—Howard, 22, and Leonard, 17—are Negroes. They are charged with the fatal stabbing of Mrs. Sarah Hearne, 39-year-old white woman.

State's Atty. Daniel B. Prettyman said the brothers signed statements admitting the killing. Robbery was the original motive, Prettyman said, but added the brothers apparently planned to criminally assault the woman.

Mrs. Hearne operated a general store and service station at Box-10, 10 miles north of the Virginia border on Maryland's Eastern Shore.

George S. Harris, her 81-year-old stepfather, said Mrs. Hearne left the house yesterday to serve a car which pulled up at the gasoline pump.

Minutes later, he said, she "came stumbling back through the kitchen door, knocked over a chair, fell down and died."

Clarence Bishop called State Police.

Sheriff Edwin K. Lynch said Mrs. Hearne, the mother of three children, was slashed across the throat and stabbed in the back and left shoulder.

She must have "put up a terrific struggle" from the torn condition of her clothing, he said.

The Shockley brothers were arrested at their home, a converted chicken house in Frankford, Del., about seven hours after the slaying.

They waived extradition before a magistrate at Georgetown, Del. last night and were turned over to Maryland authorities.

Gore To Speak At Annapolis

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 17 (AP)—U.S. Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) will speak here Monday night at a Democrat banquet.

The "Victory in '58" banquet is being sponsored by the Sixth District (Annapolis) Democratic Club. Among the guests will be five candidates for Maryland political posts and the wife of a sixth.

Three members of the Democratic "harmony" ticket are scheduled to be present. They are: Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, a candidate for governor; Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, running for reelection; and State Sen. Louis L. Goldstein (D-Calvert), candidate for comptroller. Goldstein will serve as toastmaster.

Also on the guest list are James R. Bruce, former ambassador to Argentina and a candidate for the U.S. Senate, and Mrs. Clarence Long, wife of the Johns Hopkins University professor who is also a Senate candidate.

Walter L. Green, College Park attorney and a candidate for Congress from the Fifth Maryland District, will also attend.

Lad Springs Too Hard On Sofa

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 17 (AP)—Spring, sprung—that was the way things went today with 10-year-old Alan Levy.

Little Alan, springing on a sofa, sprang too hard and had to be "sprungout" by a Civil Defense rescue squad.

The Admiral Heights youth got one hand caught in a sofa spring when his arm went through a split in the upholstery. It took his rescuers 30 minutes to extricate him.

Accident Award Is Appealed

The Maryland Court of Appeals yesterday heard arguments in the appeal filed by the Baughman Construction Company from an Allegany County Circuit Court judgment awarding 60 per cent permanent disability to an employee, Clarence Mellott, Valley Road.

The court's award reversed a State Industrial Accident Commission finding that only five per cent of Mellott's disability was due to an accident while working for the Baughman firm.

Mellott, 59, fell while lifting pipe on a project at Charlevoix, Pa., in 1955. The contracting firm claimed his back trouble is largely due to a pre-existing condition.

Wilkinson Opposes Trip By Chapman

The spending of the taxpayer's dollar became a topic of discussion yesterday morning when a national meeting in Washington, D. C. was mentioned during a regular meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

During the course of routine business matters, J. Walker Chapman, supervisor of county roads, informed the commissioners that the National Road Builders plan to meet January 20 through January 23 in the nation's capital, and he asked permission to attend.

Upon a motion by Commissioner James Orr and seconded by Commissioner William A. Wilson, the matter was duly carried. However, Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson said he felt the trip was unnecessary and a waste of the taxpayer's money for Mr. Chapman to attend.

Mr. Chapman in turn said that if the approval of his trip was not unanimous, he would not attend. He pointed out that the trip doesn't mean a thing to him although he was planning to go for the benefit of the county and the taxpayers.

There were 18 contestants. Others attending from this area were Paul Scott, Ralph Smith, Ann Taylor and John Taylor, Keyser.

The winner is to be crowned "Beauty Salon Week Queen" at a Hair Fashion Show February 8 at 8 p. m., in the Fort Cumberland Hotel, and will receive a $500 scholarship to the Tri-State Beauty Academy. The six runnersup will be her attendants. Admission to the coronation and show will be free, but a silver offering is to be taken for the Heart Association, as February is Heart Month.

Essays will be judged at a special meeting to be held at 2 p. m., January 26 at Miss Ethel Henry's, Frederick Street.

Miriam Cordwell, New York, and Carl Smith will conduct a two week educational course at the Tri-State Beauty Academy, beginning January 27. The former will give advanced hair styling and the latter is an authority on permanent waving. A free demonstration for all hairdressers will be given at 7:30, January 20 at the academy.

Announcement was made of another state meeting to be held March 8 at 8:30 in Baltimore. At that time a delegate and artist will be selected for the National convention in New Orleans in July. March 9 the Hair Styling Body will hold a contest and the winner will go to New Orleans.

A social hour followed the meeting and refreshments were served.

Queen Esther Circle of Park Place Methodist Church will hold a rummage sale Tuesday in the basement of Centre Street Church, beginning at 10 a. m.

London Is Topic For Program

Many historical places to visit, the famous restaurants, and fine shops, that would be of interest to an American tourist were outlined by Mrs. Arthur A. Verner, speaker at the meeting of the Woman's Civic Club Thursday. She also told of the excellent transportation facilities in London, and the ease with which a stranger could find her way around the city. A member of the club, Mrs. Verner talked on her two months visit to England, using as her subject, "My Impressions of London and Its Vicinities." Following her talk she answered questions, one being, "How would you spend five days in London if that was all the time you could give to such a visit?"

The program was in charge of the International Affairs group, and Mrs. William M. Somerville, chairman, introduced the speaker. Mrs. Albert D. Heacock presided at the meeting. The collect was read in unison and routine reports given by secretary, treasurer and department chairman.

The International Affairs group served tea, following the meeting, which was attended by 50 members. The centerpiece of pink snapdragons was presented to Mrs. Verner.

WORRY

It is worse than many a disease.
It can make you old before your time.
It can even kill you.

And before it does, it can destroy all your happiness.

We know all that... why then, do we worry?
We worry because we have too many fears for our shallow supply of faith.

A man or woman needs faith enough to brush aside his fears.

God is ready to give you all the faith you need.
But you'll never get it worrying all week...

In Church next Sunday, you can renew and strengthen your faith. In so doing, you will be able to face life unafraid.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral aid and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

As Guatemalans Go To The Polls

Little Guatemala, first nation ever to overthrow a pro-Communist regime, could well be the next trouble spot in Latin America, and that's why the current presidential campaign there is being watched very carefully. The United States has given Guatemala $75 million in economic aid since the pro-Communist regime of President Arbenz was toppled in 1954. Thus, while the U.S. State Department in Washington and the U.S. Ambassador in Guatemala are maintaining a scrupulous impartiality, it's no secret that we would like to see an election victory of the moderates.

Communist agents have stepped up their activities in Latin America. As a corollary, the United States, having failed to launch its satellite, has lost prestige there. Should Guatemala backslide—or rather slide laterally again to the Left—it would be viewed as another sign of dwindling U. S. influence.

From right to left, the candidates are Gen. Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes, 62, National Democratic Reconciliation candidate, who has been described as a "Right-wing military extremist"; Lt. Col. Jose Luis Cruz-Salazar, 37, candidate of the middle-road National Democratic Movement; and Mario Mendez Montenegro, 47, Partido Revolucionario leader. The National Democratic Movement is the party of the late Col. Carlos Castillo Armas. It was Castillo Armas who, in a notably unbloody revolt of June 1954, unseated the Communist-infiltrated government of the dictatorial President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman. Castillo Armas went on to head the state as president of the ruling junta. He was assassinated last July 26.

Ordinarily, Cruz Salazar would be expected to win tomorrow's election rather easily. If no candidate wins 51 per cent of the vote, the election will be thrown into Congress, dominated by Cruz Salazar's M.D.N. party.

These Days

New Jersey Politics

The State of New Jersey is different from other states in that a part of its population works in New York, another part in Philadelphia. Its industrial cities such as Newark, Passaic, Paterson, and there are many more, are constantly growing and its bedroom towns to which New Yorkers move, are increasing in number and population.

Politically, the state used to be Republican but in recent years, it has become Democratic. In fact, the most powerful so-called big city boss developed anywhere in this country, Frank Hague, was a Jersey Democratic satrap. It is a state with large populations of Poles, Hungarians, White Russians and other former Europeans.

Like the Republican Party in New York State, the Republicans in New Jersey have been torn by intestine strife between Moderns, as represented by Senator Clifford Case, and the pre-1952 Republicans who have been voting Democratic locally, thus helping Governor Meyner in the last election to enjoy a run-away victory. The pre-1952 Republicans, in New Jersey, believe, as their counterparts in New York believe, that if they have to vote a radical, they would prefer him to be in the Democratic Party.

New Jersey's senior U. S. Senator H. Alexander Smith's term is up and he has wanted to be re-elected. Although he is 77 years old, by no stretch of the imagination can he be regarded as aged, since Senator Green of Rhode Island is 90 and can cha-cha for long and arduous hours. Maybe, Green possesses such gifts because he is a bachelor. At any rate, Smith, who has regularly served the Eisenhower Administration faithfully, was declared to be too aged in favor of Bernard Shanley who was the President's secretary and resigned that position to run for Smith's.

Shanley either miscalculated his strength or the value of the President's name, but his candidacy has not built the momentum that had been expected. Furthermore, the Republican leadership of the state had anticipated that by joint action of the two United States Senators, Smith and Case, and the state chairman, Samuel L. Bodine, if Shanley could not be put over, they would be able to call off all sorts of other candidates and instead nominate Representative Peter Frelinghuysen, Jr., who is an Eisenhower Republican and comes of an old and distinguished New Jersey family.

Such a move, however, is not likely to succeed as there is such strong grass-roots opposition to the Republican leadership in New Jersey that several unexpected persons are presenting themselves as candidates for the nomination of United States Senator in Smith's place. Among the most active of these is Robert Morris, who is resigning his position as counsel for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. Morris has held judicial office in New York State, but comes of a New Jersey family with deep roots in that state. He is actively campaigning as a conservative Republican with a long history of anti-Communist activity as counsel for Congressional committees. Morris is making an energetic fight for the nomination, going directly to those who are likely to vote in the primaries and re-kindling Republican aspirations.

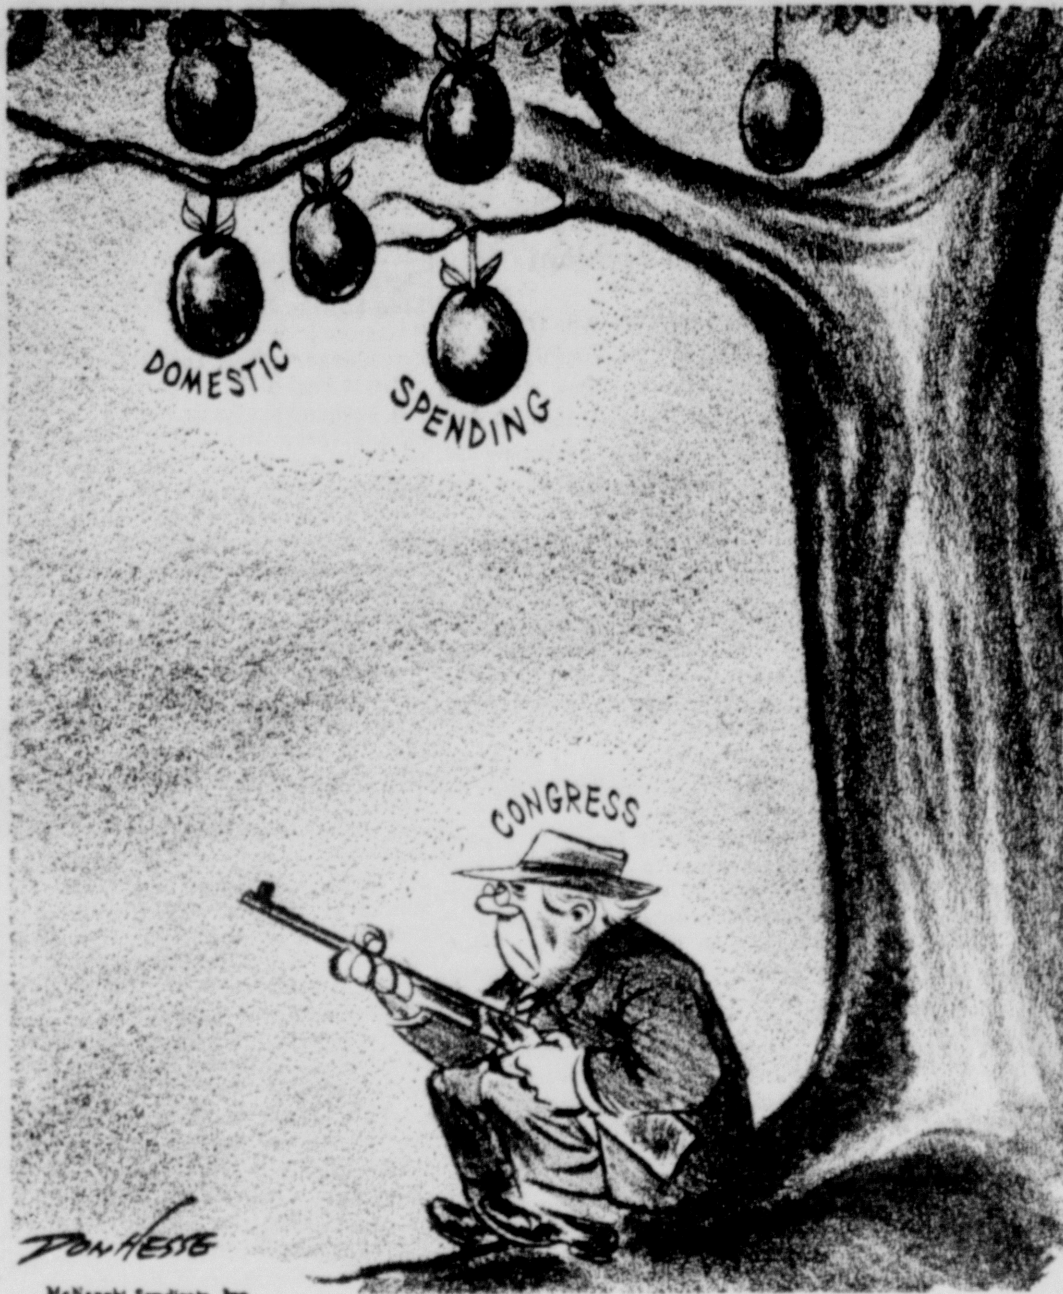

This contest is interesting because it is developing into a clear-cut fight between the Modern Republicans and the pre-1952 Republicans on a basis of principle and strategy. Perhaps the greatest strategic weakness of the Republican Party both in New York and New Jersey is that the acknowledged leaders have lost contact with the party's supporters who have in a large measure been drifting away during the past five years.

During the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations, these Republicans had targets which they could fight and against which they held local lines. Since Eisenhower became President, their targets have been removed and all they can do is to grumble. Many stay away from the polls; many vote for local Democrats.

This analysis represents Republicans who want nothing for themselves. They ask of their party a candidate for whom they can conscientiously vote. They did not feel that Senator Clifford Case was such a candidate, but they had no organized means to defeat him. Since his election, Senator Clifford Case has had practically no influence in New Jersey. It is possible that the conservative element in the Republican Party will take over in the 1958 election, but it is not at all certain that any Republican can be elected.

Mr. Reuther's Proposal: A Fantastic Scheme

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Walter Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers union, has launched what seems on the surface to be an alluring idea. He wants labor to share in the profits of the motorcar industry. But, strangely enough, he has omitted to say anything about sharing in the losses.

For in America it's a profit-and-loss system—not just a profit system—that has made the economy successful. Partners who want to share only the profits aren't usually accepted as participants in business because they would be of no help when business falters.

The auto union chief, in effect, asks to have all the workers given the status of "owners" even though they do not contribute a nickel to buy plant and equipment or risk anything, as do the investors who must take losses of dividends when business is bad and even see their stock depreciate on the market.

The new plan, presented as a basis for "collective bargaining" by the leader of the auto workers union, does not promise that the workers will increase the productivity of the company and help to reduce the total cost of making an automobile. No pledge of any kind is offered that the workers will give anything in return for their extra pay. Mr. Reuther talks as if the employees were entitled to a share in the profits no matter what they do on the production lines.

This is a bold concept that comes nearer to wanting to confiscate somebody else's property than anything union labor has ever proposed.

Profit-sharing schemes are not new. Many businesses have them for executives as an incentive. But the word "incentive" has a specific meaning. Unless it can be shown that the executives are helping to increase the company's volume of sales and are efficiently operating the company's affairs, they do not deserve a bonus. The U. S. Internal Revenue Service allows a tax deduction for services actually rendered, and it doesn't permit any deduction for gifts to employees.

Dividends to stockholders are not deductible for tax purposes and are paid out of the 48 per cent of net income left after paying the government's 52 per cent tax. Yet Mr. Reuther lumps dividends to stockholders and bonuses in the same category, which he says can be paid out of "profits before taxes."

There really isn't any such thing as "profits before taxes" anyway, because Uncle Sam has a legal hold on 52 per cent of net income, and only the remainder is really "profits." It's that remainder which must be big enough to maintain the business itself year after year. To determine the amount needed for this is a management function and not subject to "collective bargaining" with non-owners.

Mr. Reuther hasn't thought through, either, the other impli-

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Was sure as income blanks that O'Malley's Bums would have a float in the Pasadena flower parade.

They're angling for elbow acreage in the Rose Bowl with meals chucked in.

They could have clinched the duke with a beautiful float of rambling roses on a bed of Tar-paulins.

What could be prettier than a foul line through an acre of forget-me-nots?

How about the symphony orchestra horning the exit march from "The Umpire's Lullaby?" with the lovely Hilda Chester chinning herself on a bouquet of Gowanus knuckles?

Hilda would be a jab ahead of Hatpin Mary the butterfly collector at wrestling matches.

It was O'Malley's chance to make himself more solid than frozen fish. But he passed it up like it was egg on the bib.

Too there won't be another Rose Bowl parade until next year. But that time the bums will be playing their home games away from home.

Company Gets Timber From Oregon Area It Was Supposed To Mine

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It has now been four years ago this month that "Generous Doug" McKay handed 400 acres of the Rogue River National Forest over to the Al Sarena Mining Company at the behest of his crony, GOP Congressman Harris Ellsworth of Oregon.

Doug's excuse for letting 400 acres of this virgin Douglas fir get out of the taxpayers' hands was an old mining law and the excuse that the Al Sarena was going to mine gold. Various people, including this writer, Congressman Charles Porter of Oregon, Democrat, and Sen. Dick Neuberger of Oregon, claimed the excuse was phoney and that no ore would ever be mined.

The other day Senator Neuberger received an interesting letter from the U. S. Forest Service. It stated that no mining activity of any extent has occurred on the Al Sarena acreage since 1955. Earlier, at Senate hearings, a forest ranger testified under oath that he had observed no mining in 13 years he had served in the Rogue River National Forest. This writer also exhibited pictures of the Al Sarena mining shacks showing that they were falling apart and that no human hand had disturbed their cobwebs or rusty hinges for years.

Nevertheless, Secretary McKay handed over this rich domain to a private company after his subordinates had ruled against him, also after his Cabinet colleague

Secretary of Agriculture Benson had recommended against him, but after his Republican friend from Oregon, Congressman Ellsworth, had repeatedly badgered him.

As of today, here are the pay-offs:

Pay-off No. 1—The Al Sarena Co. has now logged commercially 2,961,000 board feet of valuable fir and pine. It received this timber for nothing, though it belonged to all the people of the United States.

Pay-off No. 2—The man who persuaded Generous Doug to grant this timber bonanza to his Al Sarena friends, Congressman Ellsworth, has now been rewarded by Eisenhower. Ellsworth was defeated for Congress because Oregon voters revolted against the giveaway, and subsequently made Chairman of the Civil Service Commission, whose job it is to promote clean government.

Target: Little Rock

The House Armed Services Committee has never been under tighter secrecy wraps as it considers our critical race with Russia.

Behind closed doors recently, the committee was discussing the defense potentials of a ballistic missile with a range of 1,250 miles.

"About how far is that?" someone asked. "Isn't it a fairly short range for a missile?"

"Well, I'd say it was about as far as from here to Omaha, Nebraska," suggested Rep. George Miller of California.

"Yes, but the missile won't be pointed in that direction," observed another colleague drily.

"No," drawled segregationist Rep. Mendel Rivers of South Carolina, "they're probably saving this one for Little Rock, Arkansas."

Opposed To Education

Now that there's so much talk about the American lag in education, it might be a good idea for the voters to know just which of their Congressmen voted against education last summer. This column will, therefore, undertake to publish their names, state-by-state on the installment plan.

Here are the Congressmen from the state of Texas who voted to take tidelands oil away from the 48 states to benefit Texas, Louisiana and California but who voted against aid to all the children of the nation:

Bruce Alger, the lone Republican from Texas; Jack Brooks, Omar Burleson, Martin Dies, John Dowdy, O. C. Fisher, Frank Ikard, Paul Kilday, Joe Kilgore, George Mahon, Wright Patman, W. R. Poague, Walter Rogers, J. T. Rutherford, Albert Thomas, Olin Teague, Clark Thompson, Homer Thornberry, Lindley Beckworth, all Democrats.

Washington Pipeline

Senator McClellan of Arkansas had a special card outside his office during part of his Teamster probe. He also quit driving his car. The police feared a bomb might be placed underneath. . . . When beautiful Baroness Silvercruys, wife of the Belgian Ambassador, asked Margaret Truman Daniel for pictures of her new baby, Margaret replied: "I don't carry pictures of the baby." Later, however, she produced several. . . . Marlon Brando affects a thick southern accent in his new picture "Sayonara." It's a Japanese love affair with some Little Rock overtones and some terrific acting.

While the Air Force is so hard up for cash it almost had to curtail planes for the Weather Bureau's hurricane research, Col. Harry Shoup of Colorado Springs and two fellow colonels flew a DC-3 to Hastings, Neb., where they spent the week end hunting with a former Air Force buddy, Charles W. Youngson. . . . Herbert Hill, Labor spokesman for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has complained to Vice President Nixon that defense industries are discriminating against Negroes in the North as well as in the South. Hill cited Chicago as the worst example. He charged that 98 per cent of the firms placing orders with employment agencies specify they don't want Negroes.

Eisenhower's economic advisers have warned that unemployment will hit the 4,000,000 mark in February—800,000 more people out of jobs than a year ago.

Keep Going

By Brother Barnabas

Science is making such rapid strides these days that if the trend continues man himself will be rendered null and void.

There is such a drift toward ultimatum that the time is near when all we'll have to do is sit on the sidelines and watch automatics do the work.

Pushing buttons and turning switches might become very monotonous if we had to keep it up a lifetime, which is already exceeding the biblical allotment of three-score-and-10, and is moving higher.

We have cures for most human ailments. Penicillin and the sulphonamide drugs have added to the length of human lives. Medical investigators believe that in the course of time every disease will yield to scientific treatment.

Horse-and-buggy days are antiquities, and crack passenger trains have been annulled by the helicopter and the jet aeroplane as quick modes of transportation.

We have electric brains to do our thinking, but there is a suspicion they are not widely used except in calculating the national budget at night while the minds of congressmen are off the subject.

Ultimatum Affects Animals

Ultimatum has even invaded the animal kingdom, so that when one chanticleer crows, the other roosters in the lot just nod their heads; or if one dog barks the others in the kennel just wag their tails.

When man's relative uselessness collides with his increasing age, he must find a way out of his dilemma or make one. No one in his right mind would cut the Gordian knot by cyanide of potassium. There remains but one thing to do, in spite of the "slings and arrows of outrageous fortune," and that is to keep moving onward and upward.

There is no barricade along that line. When you are laid off because some machine can do the work better, and you are too old to be wanted in another occupation, you can enter into a friendly rivalry with yourself.

Ego Belongs To You

Having escaped that part of your life that belonged to others, you now have come to that part of your life that belongs to you. The house you live in and the Ego who lives in it are both now of strategic importance. Dust and polish the furniture even though nobody but you will see it. Act your age. The oldest angels are the youngest.

Stitch, stitch, stitch. I have a bit of lacework made by a woman whose days were numbered. The masculine fatuity that women dress to please their men is not so; they buy a hat to make the other girls sit up and take notice.

A dissatisfied customer asked: "Do you return the money when an article isn't satisfactory?"

The merchant replied: "That depends on the article." "This is a book," said she. "And what was wrong with it?" queried the merchant.

"I didn't like the way it ended."

A lonesome widower wrote a forlorn widow: "I am 72 years old. Day before yesterday I chinned myself 14 times yesterday I went to 16 times. Tomorrow I hope to make it 20 times. If I do, may I come and see you?"

A local seed store sold a customer a pack of bluegrass seed. "Do you guarantee that it will grow?" asked the customer. "Yes, and if you sow it and it doesn't grow, bring it back and your money will be refunded," said the salesman.

"The fault, Dear Brutus, is not in our stars, But in ourselves that we are underlings."

Don't be a sniveling because some invention has pushed you out of a job. Do some pushing on your own account, so when you dine in some bontion Delmonico the waiters will point you out and say, "Who is this man Push-button?" And the other will say, "Dogged if I know, but they say he has invented some new way for churchgoers to sit in church without winding their wrist watches or shaking them to see whether they are running."

"If you strike a thorn or rose, Keep a-go-in— If it rains, or if it snows, Keep a-go-in— What's the use to sit and whine 'Cause the fish ain't on your line? Bait your hook and keep a-tryin' Keep a-go-in."

Be your own ultimatum, says BROTHER BARNABAS

To my knowledge, there has been only one report on this method of treatment. It was done on Arabians and results were reported as good. Many years ago a somewhat similar type of treatment enjoyed a brief spell of popularity. The method was discontinued because the over-all results were not satisfactory.

Keyser Plans For Visit Of Bloodmobile

150 Donors Needed On January 28

KEYSER—A Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit Keyser on January 28, according to J. Kenna Burke, local chairman of the Blood Bank Program. He said that only about five out of 100 persons realize the vital importance of the local blood program. The most important element of the Red Cross Blood Program is people.

Red Cross collected over 18,000,000 donations of blood since the first center opened in 1948. The 49 regional blood centers and 120 mobile units now in operation, supplied blood last year to 7,900 hospitals in 44 states and the District of Columbia. Red Cross volunteer donors provided more than 40 per cent of the blood used in the nation last year.

The regional blood program is a volunteer community endeavor in which the medical profession, hospitals and the Red Cross chapter are partners. No charge is ever made by the Red Cross for the blood itself. The quota for this visit is 150 pints. This collection by the Red Cross unit will be conducted at Grace Methodist Church on South Mineral Street, Keyser.

Potomac State College Ends Religious Survey

KEYSER—A survey of religious preferences shown by students of Potomac State College as released by the office of Dean K. S. McKee, indicates that the Methodist group leads with 208 members. Catholic students numbering 82 are the second largest group, followed by Presbyterians with 68.

Of the total of nearly 600 students, 554 indicated an affiliation with some established church.

Other preferences cited were Baptist 42, Lutheran 37, Evangelical United Brethren 34, and Episcopalian 17.

Several other denominations have about ten representatives each.

W. Va. Medical Center Costs Being Studied

Senate Group Views Problem

CHARLESTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—The president of West Virginia University made a qualified statement today that the WVU Medical Center, once construction is paid for, will be able to operate on soft drink tax income.

President Irvin Stewart, in an appearance before the Senate Education Committee, qualified his statement in two respects. He said the 30-million-dollar center should be able to operate with no tax revenue other than the pop tax, provide that:

(1) The university is permitted to keep fees collected at the center.

(2) It is not forced to expand into programs beyond those planned at present. Dr. Stewart foresaw eventual demand for such expansion and said that when it comes it will require more money.

Need Five Million
Stewart and William G. Thompson of Montgomery, president of the WVU Board of Governors, appeared on a bill designed to make available five million dollars needed to pay off contractors on schedule for construction of a 13 million dollar teaching hospital at the center.

The hearing was the Legislature's main business today. The two houses were in session only briefly this morning before adjourning until 2 p. m. Monday.

The Senate, which had several members absent, held over until Monday a passage vote on a bill to continue the cigarette tax at its present five-cents-a-pack level for three more years.

Unless the measure is enacted, the tax will automatically drop back to four cents next June 30. That would mean an estimated loss of $1,773,000 to the general school fund next fiscal year, most of which would have to be made up elsewhere to avoid a deficit. The bill has yet to go before the House.

Legislature's Mandate
It was the 1951 Legislature which decided WVU should have four-year schools of medicine, dentistry and nursing. The penny-a-bottle soft drink tax was enacted that year to finance establishment and operation of the schools.

The last of three initially planned units, a 13 million dollar teaching hospital, is now under construction. Its completion will bring the actual construction cost of the center to 25 million dollars. Stewart said equipment for the buildings and other additional items would bring the overall cost to about 30 million.

The long established two-year medical school and the first year of the new School of Dentistry began operation last fall at the Medical Center, using the new Basic Sciences Building which was completed last year at a cost of $10,675,000.

With those operating costs also drawing on the soft drink tax income, which is running about $3,300,000 a year, the university does not have enough money in sight to pay off on schedule under the $13,172,000 contract for the teaching hospital. Five million dollars is the approximate amount of the shortage.

To solve the problem, the university administration seeks passage of the bill which was the subject of the Senate Education Committee hearing.

The bill would let a private corporation such as the WVU Foundation sell up to five million dollars worth of 4 per cent bonds to the state teachers' retirement fund and workmen's compensation fund.

The corporation would use the proceeds to pay off the contractor on schedule. Income from the soft drink tax and medical center fees then would be used to retire the bonds held by the state trust funds.

Bouchee Held For Molesting Of Children

PHILLIES' First
Baseball Arrested

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 17 (AP)—Ed Bouchee, the Philadelphia Phillies' star rookie first baseman, was arrested today and Police Chief Ralph Johnson said he has admitted three cases of child molesting.

Johnson said officers talked with Bouchee last night about a current investigation of such cases here and that he came in voluntarily this morning, then was placed under arrest.

Bouchee was taken to the prosecutor's office for questioning. He was being held without charge.

Police have been investigating reports of child molesting here for about two weeks. None of the children have been harmed.

Bouchee, 23, who was an all-around high school athlete here, is married and the father of one child.

He played with Miami after a stint with the Spokane Indians of the Class B Western International League and then joined the Phillies where he was a slugging star last season.

Lt. George Berg, head of the police department's young people's division, said Bouchee admitted getting two girls into his station wagon and showing them indecent pictures and talking with another girl outside the car.

Fort Hill Girls Score 39th Straight Over Valley, 66-30

Wilma Redinger Gets
32 As Team Wins Big
One For Bill Hahn

With Coach William P. Hahn doing the "master minding" in the place of Coach Henrietta Snyder, who was absent because of death in her family, the Fort Hill High School girls extended their winning streak to 39 games by clobbering Valley High School yesterday at the Fort Hill court by the score of 66-30.

Hahn, who guides the destinies of Fort Hill football and track teams, was reported to be "worried" early in the game when Valley held Fort Hill even at 22-44 and 6-6 but once the Hilltoppers got rolling it was curtains for the Lonaconing sextet which was expected to give the locals a tough battle. Fort Hill piled up a 32-12 lead at halftime and held a 45-point advantage at the end of the third period, 59-14.

It was the third straight win of the season for the Greenway Avenue sextet.

Twenty Fort Hill players saw action during the one-sided affair in which the locals dumped in 29 shots from the field and converted 8 of 11 attempts at the foul line. Valley collected 14 fielders and 2-8 at the free throw line.

Wilma Redinger, who had scored 12 goals in the first two games of the season, was as hot as a firecracker in yesterday's tilt with 14 field goals, four-for-four at the foul line and a total of 32 points to her credit. Nancy Bell scored six field goals and 13 points and Barbara Joyce had five goals and ten points.

Fort Hill guards limited Rita Kirkwood, the area's high scorer, to six field goals, a season low for the Valley ace, who tallied 14 points. In the four previous games Rita had scored 37, 48, 25 and 21 points respectively. During the time she was in the game, Eleanor Leatherman held Kirkwood to three baskets. Gloria Nicol also scored six goals for Valley and accounted for a total of 12 points.

The loss was the third against two victories for Valley.

Races At Bowie
To Start Feb. 8

BALTIMORE, Jan. 17 (AP)—Bowie race track will open its 40-day meeting Feb. 8, four days earlier than originally planned, as a hedge against bad weather, the Maryland Racing Commission announced today.

The aim is to give the track enough time to complete its meeting should bad weather force cancellation of some programs.

The commission said that about mid-way through the meet, if there have been no cancellations, racing will not be held on certain days so as to wind up the meeting March 29 as planned. Laurel opens March 31.

Aragón, Vejar
Meet Feb. 18

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17 (AP)—Art Aragón has signed to fight veteran Chico Vejar, 18, at Hollywood Chico Stadium.

It will be the Los Angeles boxer's first important bout in his comeback campaign. The state dropped a conspiracy charge against him when he was granted a new trial after being convicted of planning to fix a fight in San Antonio, Tex.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our son, Paul (Pete) Bennett, whom God called home 6 years ago today, January 18, 1952. I miss you so my little Pete since God called you away. And this day more than ever for this is my sad day. With a broken heart I watched you, I saw you pass away. And though I loved you dearly, I could not make you stay. I was standing by your bedside, And saw your life depart. And when I knew that you were gone, It almost broke my heart. Time has broken hearts they say, But no, it isn't true. For 6 long years have passed, And my heart still aches for you today. Sadly missed always by Mommy, Woodie, Mom & Mary Ann.

County Gets Share From Racing Funds
A check was received from the state comptroller's office yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners for the county and incorporated communities' share of state horse racing receipts.
The county will receive $13,169.05 as its share. The balance of the $31,981.14 check is apportioned to the various communities on the basis of their population.
The City of Cumberland will receive the largest share, $13,455.44. Frostburg gets $2,455.48, Westernport, $1,225.26; Lonaconing, $817.41; Luke, $292.86; Midland, $317.48; Barton, $248.17.
A petition was received by the board from a group of residents along an eight-mile section of the Oliver Belt Road, which is unpaved, asking that repairs be made.
J. Walker Chapman, roads supervisor, said that nothing could be done at present to eliminate the "chuck holes" complained of due to weather conditions.
The petition stated the roadway is used by a school bus, is a mail route and a farm-to-market route or many livestock, fruit and truck crops shipments by farmers in the area.

Board Discusses Dog Law With Kennel Club
A committee representing the Upper Potomac Kennel Club met with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to discuss the new county dog law.
One question posed by the group was why cats, parakeets, goldfish, monkeys or other pets are not included under the law governing animals.
The kennel club members are interested in how the dog wardens will destroy dogs picked up as strays and also if a humane method is used. It was pointed out by Philip Carolan, one of the committeemen, that the club members have quite an investment in pedigreed dogs and they are interested in preventing them from becoming diseased from infections brought into kennels.
Carolan said dog wardens in their inspections might possibly "track" in an infectious disease from some other dog which they have handled.
A general discussion of the provisions of the dog law was held and a number of questions were cleared up. A copy of the new dog law in booklet form was given each kennel club committeeman.
The committee was comprised of Harvey Ware, George Miller, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Renne and Carolan.
A supply of 5,000 dog tags has been received by the county and are on sale at the county commissioners' office at the Court House, at Trial Magistrates Court at the Union Street County Building and from dog wardens.

Sputnik II Is Seen Staying Up Until May
MOSCOW, Jan. 17 (AP)—A Soviet scientist said here Sputnik II, carrying the remains of the space dog Laika, may stay in the skies until May.
B. V. Kuzarkin, deputy chairman of the Astronomical Council of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, told the Tass news agency he has calculated the second earth satellite has a life span of six months. It was launched Nov. 3.
The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday decided to request a meeting with the Upper Potomac River Commission to discuss the Georges Creek sewage problem insofar as plans for a survey of the area is concerned.
Commissioner William A. Wilson said that a survey of the sewage needs for the Georges Creek area would have to be made before any decision on financing or the type of system which may be installed.
Wilson said the county board should act now and perhaps the Georges Creek program could be handled along with the sewage disposal program for the Tri-Towns area.
The preliminary survey will be made to determine the cost of the Georges Creek plant. Representatives of the Georges Creek area met Thursday at the Union Street County Building to discuss the problem. The county board and State Department of Health officials also attended the session.
The commissioners also approved yesterday the payment of an increased rental for two rooms used by the Trial Magistrates office in Frostburg. The First National Bank of Frostburg has been renting the rooms to the county for many years. The new rate will be $30 per month. This is an increase of $10 per month. The increased rental is the first made by the bank since 1934.

Status Of Md. Schools Shown In New Report
A booklet entitled "Who Will Teach Me?" published by joint cooperation of the Maryland State Teachers Association and the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers, is being distributed here and elsewhere throughout the state.
The booklet is designed to point up facts about public schools, needs for the present and future, and costs involved. Copies are available from the speakers bureau of Allegany County Teachers Association, John D. Kelly, chairman.
Mr. Kelly, a member of the faculty at Beall High School, Frostburg, said speakers are available from the bureau to appear before civic, fraternal, and other lay groups. Appearances may be arranged by contacting him at Beall High.
The booklet says that 1,201 prospective teachers will be graduated from Maryland colleges in June 1958. Maryland will need 3,500 new teachers next year to fill normal and anticipated vacancies and to man new classrooms and schools.
Last year, it is noted, the turnover of teachers exceeded 16 per cent in Maryland, with 24 per cent of those employed holding emergency teaching certificates. The increased need for new teachers is expected to continue, with 25,000 additional pupils to be enrolled each year for a number of years ahead.
Maryland's five-year program, as launched three years ago, called for an upgrading of teacher salaries to a scale of $3,600 to $5,400, as recommended by the State Board of Education. A bill passed by the last session of the General Assembly provided a $400 increase per teacher, which would have set the salary scale at $3,200 to $5,000. The bill was vetoed by the governor, but will come before the House of Delegates and Senate as the first order of business at the 1958 session for action on possible overriding of the veto.
The five-year plan then calls for an additional $400 increase per teacher, to bring the scale to the desired minimum scale and to make Maryland attractive to the best teachers obtainable.
The booklet also points out that a part of the five-year plan is continuing emphasis on the expansion of state teacher colleges, so that more teachers can be trained and the supply made more nearly equal to the demand.

Sen. Turnbull Backs Tawes For Governor

Says He's Still A Free Agent

(By The Associated Press)

John Grason Turnbull has closed one door to elective political office, but quickly pointed out that others remain open.

The majority leader in the State Senate announced last year he would not seek reelection.

Yesterday, he turned his back on the governorship by joining Baltimore County's House delegation in endorsing State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes for the Democratic nomination.

"I am still a free agent as far as the approaching campaigns are concerned," he said. "I have concluded that despite my own personal ambitions, it will be in the best interests of Maryland that Mr. Tawes be nominated and elected governor."

Turnbull's pronouncement came amid a clearing of Baltimore County political smoke and a possible lightening of the load of Democratic candidates for nomination to the U. S. Senate.

Del. A. Gordon Boone, a close political and business ally who drew Turnbull's endorsement for his vacated State Senate seat withdrew from the race. Boone said he would support James A. Pine for State senator.

Other Democratic leaders in the county had endorsed Pine. Boone plans to seek reelection to the House, where he is majority floor leader.

In Baltimore, the woman who wished to become Maryland's first female member of the U. S. Senate said she will withdraw from the crowded Democratic primary race and seek election as an independent candidate.

Mrs. Nellie Marie Marshall, judge of the Orphans Court, said petitions for her independent race "will ready to go out next week."

The 52-year-old jurist will bypass a primary test if she can get 5,000 voters to sign her petitions for a place on the general election ballot. Judge Marshall said she expects no difficulty in obtaining 15,000 to 20,000 signatures.

Her withdrawal will cut the Democratic senatorial field to George P. Mahoney, James Bruce, Dr. Clarence D. Long, Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro and Andrew J. Easter. For months, Turnbull reportedly was eyeing the senatorial race.

Recently, however, there has been talk of organizing a slate of candidates to oppose the Tawes-D'Alesandro slate. It would be built around Bruce and Turnbull had been mentioned as a likely prospect for the gubernatorial slot.

His action today negates that possibility.

Two Fire Hall Thefts Probed

Authorities are investigating the breaking and entering of fire halls at Corriganville and North Branch and the attempted entry of a business firm here.

An undetermined sum of money was stolen from the Corriganville Fire Hall on Wednesday morning, according to County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya.

Mr. Lilya and Deputy Sheriff Paul Haberlein, who investigated said the hall was entered by breaking a window reached from an adjoining roof.

He said coin containers from a juke box and pinball and shuffleboard machines were taken, along with about $12 in cash from a jar containing contributions for a needy family.

Mr. Lilya said authorities are checking several leads in connection with the case.

About $300 was taken in the forced entry of the North Branch Fire Hall that same morning.

Tic. John F. Browning said entry was made by forcing a side door in the engine room of the hall. The money was taken from a metal tray in the furnace room.

City police said a small window was found forced at the side of the Cumberland Electric Company store yesterday but that the intruder apparently failed to get in.

Youth Waives Extradition In Tavern Case

A 16-year-old local youth was placed last night in the county detention quarters after he was fined in Ridgeley for traffic violations and waived extradition in Keyser on a charge of breaking and entering Shaw's Tavern here earlier this week.

The breaking and entering warrant was issued yesterday afternoon by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick on oath of City Detective E. Gordon Hite.

Shortly after the warrant was issued, Lawrence Robert Imel, Jane Frazier Village, was taken to Ridgeley and was fined $50 by Mayor Charles H. Fryer on three motor vehicle charges.

Ridgeley Police Chief Jack Cornett and Maryland Trooper Willis Foreman then took the lad to Keyser, where he waived extradition before Judge Ernest A. See on the Maryland charge.

Chief Cornett said Imel, first believed to be 18, misrepresented his age as he was only 16. Young Imel was arrested Thursday night by Troopers Foreman and Carlton Lewis, who stopped his car after they saw it weaving over Greene Street.

When the troopers got out of their car, Imel headed toward Ridgeley and collided with two Cumberland-bound cars.

He was lodged in the Ridgeley Jail Thursday night in default of bond and while there, Chief Cornett, who had been asked to be on the lookout for unstamped whisky bottles, found several such bottles in Imel's car.

City police were notified and placed the charge after Detectives Harry L. Iser, George Furstenberg and Lt. James E. Van questioned the youth.

Police said the lad told them he had used part of the $165 taken from the tavern to buy a used car and had been drunk since breaking into the place Wednesday about 3 a. m.

Court Affirms SIAC Decision

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Court of Appeals yesterday affirmed a decision by the State Industrial Accident Commission to award compensation for permanent and total disability to William J. Lucas, a 54-year-old Lonaconing coalminer.

The award, which had been upheld in Allegany County Circuit Court, was objected to by his employer, Beechwood Coal Co. of Lonaconing, and the State Accident Fund. They said the commission could not reverse a decision by the medical board that Lucas had no disability from an occupational disease.

The high court said the commission does have statutory authority to reverse the medical board, and it found there was sufficient evidence to sustain a finding that Lucas had contracted a lung ailment, pneumoconiosis, caused by dust and within the meaning of the occupational disease law.

W.Va. Delegate Favors Liquor By Drink Plan

Revenue Would Aid Schools, Roads

CHARLESTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—With a toast to West Virginia's beleaguered schools and roads, Del. Hubbard (R-Ohio) was back today with his unique proposal for providing liquor by the drink for thirsty citizens.

The nod to schools and roads is an invocation aimed at getting the proposed legislation within the scope of Gov. Underwood's call for this session of the Legislature.

When Hubbard first broached the plan a year ago — and barely missed getting it passed by the House — it contained no such proposal as earmarking the revenues for schools and roads.

In essence, Hubbard's idea simply is to extend to counties and cities the option of permitting sale of liquor by the drink within their own jurisdictions, if the citizens so desire.

Hubbard's bill would provide for a special statewide election next May 6 to take public sentiment on holding a constitutional convention.

If held, the convention would determine the question of submitting to the people in this year's general election a constitutional amendment to permit local option elections on the sale of liquor by the drink.

The amendment, under Hubbard's proposal, would set a license fee of $1,500 annually and provide a tax of not less than two cents an ounce on each drink sold.

Revenue would go into the state's general fund, with 20 per cent of the income to go back to the county where collected for school purposes. The remaining 80 per cent would be divided equally between schools and roads.

The last constitutional convention held along lines as those proposed by Hubbard was that in 1871 which submitted the state constitution to the people of the new state of West Virginia.

If the May referendum were favorable, the Hubbard plan would call for Democrats and Republicans to nominate 24 candidates in each of the six congressional districts, 12 and 12 against the liquor proposal.

Those elected would attend the convention as delegates.
